

I Go Where They Love a Fellow

In the late 1800s D. L. Moody began a Sunday school on Illinois Street in Chicago. One child who attended would walk each week from halfway across the city, which was a large city even in those days. He would pass church after church until he reached the Illinois Street Sunday School.

One day a superintendent of one of the Sunday Schools he passed asked him, "Why do you go all the way out there? Why don't you come here? It is right next door to you."

Looking up at the superintendent, the lad said, "I go where they love a fellow." <sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Hyman J. Appelman, "Paralyzed People," [July 1946], Hudson, Curtis, ed. Great Preaching on Soul Winning. (Murfreesboro, TN: Sword of the Lord Publishers, 1989), p. 121.