

Sending Pictures as Postcards

During events or during regular church times, take pictures of your students, especially close up face-shots and pictures with their friends. Tell them to make a crazy faces, to smile big, and so forth, but don't tell them what the pictures are for. Develop the pictures in a 4x6 inch size. Add your church name and address to the format for sending pictures as postcards and print it on a full-page label sheet. Cut these out, write a note on them, and then stick them to the back side of the pictures...and, just like that, you now have a postcard with your student's picture on it that the post office will deliver. Just be sure to put the right postage on it. Parents and students alike love these.

(NOTE: If you stick the labels and then write a note once they are attached to the pictures, your writing can make an impression that will show through the pictures. So, always write the note, then stick the label.)
