

What are You Hiding?

One of our younger kids had taken some candy to his room when he wasn't supposed to and had hidden it. His parents caught him and asked him if there was anything else he was hiding. He confessed to hiding a few more things. Then they turned to the older brother, who was in the first grade. They asked, "Is there anything that you're hiding?" "Yes," he replied quietly. "I'm hiding God's Word in my heart."
